New York Boys.

"Mister, won't you give us or lift?" The speaker was a boy of 10, with an expression of weariness on his face. The one spoken to was a youth of about 22, with a shade of a mustache. The object referred to was a bag about three feet high, which seemed to be filled with some heavy material."Certainly, my boy," replied the youth. "I'll help you on with it."True to his word, he grabbed the bag around the center and proceeded to lift it on to the boy's shoulder. Suddenly unearthy yells and shrieks came from within, and the object, whatever it was, began to kick with such force that the youth dropped the bag and proceeded to hold his hands to his stomach as if in great pain.The boy and several bystanders were shaking with laughter. A moment later the top of the bag opened, and a lad of 8 scampered away as fast as he could."Foolish!" yelled all the boys at the youth, as they scampered after the youngster.That is what they call the "bag game." It is something new, and it originated on the east side, but who invented it no one knows.The idea simply is to get a ferocious youngster to enter the bag and then have some unscrupulous person lift it. The yells and shrieks and kicks will not fail to upset his mental and perhaps physical equilibrium, and the youngsters will have a great laugh as a result.—New York Herald.

An English Road.

Take the road that leads from Stratford to Coventry, and you will have taken the loveliest road in all England.So say the travelers, and here is a story that looks as if there might be a grain of truth in the statement.An American woman who crossed the Atlantic announced her intention of driving rather than "railroading" through Great Britain. "Well," observed a neighboring Englishwoman, "you won't find a lovelier drive throughout the land's length and breadth than that from ——" "Yes, she will, too," interrupted another Englishman. "Of course I don't know the road you're thinking of, but whatever it is it can't compare with the one I have in mind."The argument upon the subject at length waxed so warm between the two that the American suggested that each write his "drive" upon a slip of paper, the slips to be handed to her, and not opened until she had set foot on British soil.This was agreed upon. And when the American woman opened the slips she read upon the first, "From Stratford to Coventry," and upon the second, "From Coventry to Stratford." — New York Sun.

THE UTAH ELECTION VALID.

The Supreme Court of Utah has unanimously decided that the recent election in that State was valid and that a secret ballot was used. The decision in this case was awaited with considerable interest by the people of Utah, though few could believe that the Court would set aside the will of the people expressed at the ballot box, as provided by the laws of the State.

It appears that immediately after the Presidential election the office holders, who are nearly all Republican, conceived the idea of lengthening their terms of office by attempting to have the law under which the recent election was held declared unconstitutional, as it did not, in their opinion, provide for a secret ballot, which the constitution imperatively requires. The canvassing board in Salt Lake City, a majority of whose members were defeated for re-election, hesitated about performing their duties until the county attorney informed them that their duties were ministerial, not judicial; that is, that they were simply to canvass the vote and announce the result and not pass upon the validity of the election law.

Even the County Clerk refused to issue certificates to the successful candidates, and criminal proceedings were instituted against him. The State Board of Canvassers was then enjoined from canvassing the vote and the matter was taken to the Supreme Court, which had denied the petition for an injunction and remanded the County Clerk, who refused to issue certificates of election, to the custody of the Sheriff.

The scheme of the office holding conspirators was to have the recent election declared invalid and to hold on to their offices until the next general election. It was not contended that the laws were not complied with at the Presidential election, but that the law under which the election was held was unconstitutional. The members of the Legislature who enacted that law expected to hold office for two years more by reason of their ignorance or criminality.

The will of the people, expressed as by law provided, was to be set aside and men retain offices which the people by overwhelming majorities awarded to others. But the Supreme Court spoiled the game and the persons chosen by the people will take possession of the offices to which they were elected, on the first Monday in January.

VANDALISM NOT PATRIOTISM.

In 1666 Jacques Marquette, a Jesuit missionary, sailed for Canada and explored the great west, which was then a wilderness. With five other Frenchmen he reached the Wisconsin river and floated down to the Mississippi in canoes. Fearing captivity by the Indians if they proceeded down that river, they returned to Green Bay. He established a mission in Wisconsin, where he died in 1675, and where his memory is revered.

The State of Wisconsin presented the general government with a beautiful statue of the great explorer, and it was placed in the Capitol at Washington. Fanatics objected to the statue because Marquette was a Catholic, and an unsuccessful attempt was made at the last session of Congress to have it removed. As threats were made to remove it by force, a watchman was specially detailed to guard it, but notwithstanding his vigilance, it has been badly damaged and defaced by vandals.

It is a mistake to confound such a dastardly deed as that with patriotism or with religion. Wisconsin did not incur the expense of making that statue, nor did the government place it in the Capitol because of the religious belief of Pere Marquette, but because he was the first white man to explore the State and was peaceable and kind hearted. As well deface the statues and pictures of Columbus and change the names of the many towns in the United States named in his honor as to mutilate the statue of Marquette, as both were of the same religious faith.

Citizens of this country, where everybody is guaranteed freedom of conscience, and church and State are entirely independent of each other, should disown such vandalism as a disgrace to American citizenship.

THE REPUBLICAN AUTOCRAT.

There is no question but that Marcus A. Hanna is the acknowledged autocrat of the Republican party. He dictates its policy, and controls the actions of its hitherto acknowledged leaders. This is made apparent daily. He was given as authority some time since for the assertion that an extra session of Congress would be called soon after McKinley's inauguration. Office-seekers flock to see him, indicating that he is to be the dispenser of public patronage, and it is admitted that he will have the say in selecting the Cabinet. Senator Sherman at the last session of Congress was one of the most ardent of Cuba's sympathizers. Last week Mr. Hanna was at Washington, and had an interview with Senator Sherman. Since then Sherman has become very conservative, and now objects to a resolution recognizing the republic of Cuba because it might involve us in a war with Spain, and the agitation will distract the business interests of the country. This change in the Ohio Senator is attributed to his conversation with Mr. Hanna, who is known to be averse to resolutions recognizing Cuba.

It is not known to what extent Mr. Hanna may exercise his autocratic power in the Republican party. His will seems to be law, and what he decrees will be carried into effect regardless of the objections of Speaker Reed, who is now styled the ex-Czar of the West. The business methods of Mr. Hanna, and his success in collecting $16,000,000 and expending it where it did the most good, has given him a prestige with his party never before accorded a private citizen in the United States, and his word is law at Canton as it is expected to be at the White House after the inaugural ball. Great is Autocrat Hanna, and happy is the office-seeker upon whom he smiles.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

The general passenger agent of the Southern Pacific says the cut in passenger rates on the Valley road is a plain declaration of war, and the Southern Pacific company has not yet decided how to treat it. Yesterday morning thirty whites from Fulton went into the city of Mayfield, Ky., armed to the teeth, and prepared to resist the negroes who proposed to attack the town on account of the recent lynching. Companies are being formed in adjacent towns, and the Second Regiment, State guard, has been asked for a gatling gun. The body of a negro was found lying in a side street of Mayfield. It is known he was killed by whites. It is rumored that a mob of negroes are marching to the town, and no merchant will sell weapons or ammunition to negroes.

The Leap Year Party.

One of the nicest social events ever given in Reno took place at the Pavilion last night. The occasion was a leap year party managed by a number of young ladies. Upwards of seventy-five couples were present and the affair was conducted in the most approved style. The gentlemen were "belles of the ball" or wall flowers, as the individual case might be, and the floor and details were managed in excellent form by the ladies. The participants all voted the party a grand success.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transferred nature of the many physical ills which afflict us before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant fatty laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and in everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it's the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without disturbing the system on which it acts. It is therefore important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commanded to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

LOOKING BACKWARD.

The saddest of All, What Might Have Been

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 17, 1896. Even the fraud of Hanna and the Republican party would have proved unavailing if the Chicago platform had followed the direct and well meaning platform known as the "Ohio platform," as promulgated by the Democratic party of that State.

Francis G. Newlands, H. M. Teller, Jno. R. McLean and other prominent Silver leaders insisted at all times on a single plank and on such an issue Bryan would have won. The finger marks of Altgeld and Tillman, however courageous and manly these men are, were pointed out as the great reasons why Bryan should be defeated.

There are times when for the success of a party radicalism and personal wrongs should take back seat and the Chicago Convention was an example. Mr. Altgeld was vindicated at the convention but Bryan was defeated at the polls.

We all recognize that Altgeld is an able, fearless man, the peer of any blood sucking and degenerate pirates in the Republican party, but unfortunate errors clung to his name and these played upon the fears of the people.

It was unfortunate that the silver issue was not allowed to go before the people unencumbered by other questions.

But bright and enthusiastic nature there were at Chicago to whom all things that were possible seemed expedient. All wrongs must be redressed at once. To put any cause seems to someone like taking sides with the enemy. There was a plank on the Supreme Court that antagonized thousands of well meaning men. No one doubts but that the Supreme Court was immune to criticism. That was not the question. We want Bryan, silver and vote.

In criticizing the Supreme Court some relieved themselves of an opinion and as a result business men had anarchy, rebellion and revolution. There was another plank on the Chicago riots and Federal interference. There was another plank on the loss of 250,000 votes to the ticket.

The memory of the Chicago riots was fixed in the minds of the people of this country, and it was like a specter.

Dread of another such was felt in every city. The impression, however, erroneous it is, had become fixed in the public mind that in some way Cleveland had suppressed an incipient rebellion.

Cleveland simply stood triumphant, he repudiated over prostrate labor and labor to avenge what was wrong and vindicated himself voted for McKinley.

Equally strong was the impression that the local authorities had dangerously temporized with the mob. It was Governor Altgeld's desire to be vindicated and to show that he had not failed in his duty while the President had exceeded his power.

But what a tribunal to appeal to for a calm and judicial hearing, 14,000,000 of voters, to whom the most iniquitous appeals were sure to be made by gold writers and speakers. These were to bear and determine whether there had been any irregularity in the action of the Federal authorities at Chicago. What cared the frightened property owners of the United States about technical questions when, as they were told, a mob was sacking a great city? No doubt the situation at Chicago was greatly exaggerated. All the more reason why the Democratic party should not have made a campaign issue of it. Governor Altgeld's great New York speech will not and cannot be answered. It bears the stamp of greatness, but how many have read it? It should have been made long ago or hereafter, and not amid the hysterical excitement of a Presidential campaign.

With the decision of the Supreme Court upon the income tax. These were dangerous topics. To mention them was but to cause our party to be made answerable for what ever the enemy chose to lay at our door.

The introduction of these subjects into the platform was unwise to the last degree for the reason that our platform would not be discussed for what was in it, but for what the enemy might choose to falsely charge was in.

Had the subjects named been avoided we could not have been so misrepresented. As it was the last month of the campaign say the silver question sent to the rear while frantic appeals were made by mouthings and unscrupulous demagogues for the preservation of the country from the advocates of free riots, for the preservation of the judiciary from resistance to its decisions and finally the preservation of the Union. The people who listened to or read those foul falsehoods were confused and thousands stampeded in every state. The enemies of silver money have shown great skill of late years in forcing false issues to the front to prevent a vote on the free and unlimited use of silver by this nation alone, but never have they been aided as they have been this year by real friends of silver who could not restrain their desire to settle all questions of government in one campaign.

A single financial plank would have led Democracy to a triumphant victory. The Silver party of Nevada, now nationally recognized, is the nucleus around which conflicting and contending factions must eventually rally to success and established free coinage, whose experience in the campaign of 1896 was not defeated, but an onward march to victory.

The Committee on Incorporation for the town of Reno met last evening and considered the proposed charter as drafted. Amendments were offered and adopted, and the committee adjourned until next Saturday evening.

AT THE HIGH SCHOOL.

Interesting Closing Exercises for the First Half of the School Year.

Closing exercises were held yesterday morning by the pupils of the Fourth and Fifth Grades, the rooms presided over by Miss Joy and Miss Northrop. An excellent program was rendered, and it can be said without reservation that each little girl or boy that took part deserves the highest praise.

The musical part of the program was under the direction of Mrs. Layton, and the excellent singing of the pupils showed the careful work of their teacher. The Brownie drill was a great feature and was encored. The Little Boy Blue drill by eight boys was very neat and the drill by eight little girls was very pretty. Miss Northrop, Miss Joy and Mrs. Layton are deserving of great praise for the excellence of their several departments.

Nearly two hundred guests were present, and at the conclusion of the exercises Mrs. O. F. Bender, in behalf of the visitors, thanked the teachers and pupils for the enjoyable hour all had spent.

In the afternoon similar exercises were held in the First and Second Grades and the pupils of these rooms acquitted themselves admirably and the parents and friends of the little tots were splendidly entertained.

Exercises were also held by the Alpha Literary Society, which is composed of pupils of the three higher grades.

The program comprised vocal and instrumental music, dialogues, essays, etc., and the large audience present was splendidly entertained, and the pupils encouraged by hearty applause.

The school has closed for the Christmas vacation, and the young folks are ready to enjoy the full benefit of a week or ten days' rest.

Diphtheria Cure.

The testimony of a prominent physician:

FOUNTAIN CITY, Ind., June 17, 1895. This certifies that I have been using V. O. in my practice. I have never found any medical preparation in 40 years of practice that is calculated to do so much good in so wide a range of diseases and leave no after bad effects.

In Diphtheria it has proved a perfect specific in my hands, and I had rather depend on it alone in that dreadful disease than the whole popular Materia Medica with that left out.

DISPOSING OF PASTRY.

Edible That Capable Housewives Can Make of Left Overs.

It is not always an easy matter to dispose of all the scraps of pastry left after making pastries or pies of any kind.

In olden times there was a variety of little cakes made of small pieces of fine pastry and garnished with jelly, jams or sweetened creams whipped to a stiff froth and flavored. The well known "wells of Cupid," as they were known in those sentimental days, were nothing more than tiny flat cakes of pastry with a raised ring of pastry laid on them, the cavity in the center being filled with jelly or jam of some bright color.

These "wells" are sometimes made of cold boiled plum pudding, garnished with a creamy hard brandy sauce, and they are then served at the holiday season and known as "wells of Noel." Almost any plain cookie dough may be rolled out and cut up into circles and rings of equal size, and have a ring laid on every circle and the cakes baked. The cavity in the center may be filled with bright red currant jelly.

Those dainty little cakes called "marigolds" may be made of puff paste or any pastry or cake batter that can be rolled out. They are especially nice made of puff pastry glazed with sugar and baked a golden brown.

Cut out 20 circles of pastry with a fluted cutter about two inches in diameter. Then stamp out an equal number of rings about three-quarters of an inch in diameter. Put those tiny rings in the center of the large circles and stick pieces of blanched and shredded almonds around the centers. Dredge these cakes with sugar and bake them in a quick oven for about ten minutes, or they are a nice golden brown.

Arrange little strips of red currant jelly lengthwise around the edge between the strips of almond. These represent the petals of the flower. These cakes are troublesome to make, but are nice for a child's party or other gala occasion.

"King Henry's shoestrings" are strips of pastry arranged in four loops in the shape of a St. Andrew's cross. They are decorated with bits of green grape jelly and red currant jelly to represent rubies and emeralds. Where a cocky bird is used pieces of candied cherries and green lime or the prettier candied angelica can be used.

Other cakes may be made in the form of small wreaths made of little leaves of pastry when baked. Bits of bright jelly set in various hollows of the wreath represent blossoms. These are a delight to children.—St. Louis Republic.

Is the Sun Burning Up?

Thousands of curious and ingenious theories have been advanced to account for the effect that the sun, although it has whirled his burning disk across the heavens for untold ages, continues to burn without being consumed or his bulk being lessened in the least. Some of our most learned astronomers believe, or pretend to believe, that the great oil is a ball of gas, but even a great globe of gas would be consumed to its utmost atom in the course of a few thousand years. Others say that fires are kept up by the burning of the remains of wrecked worlds which are constantly falling into its mysterious, burning depths. But even this seems far from probable, and those who take an opposite view declare that it is a monstrously absurd conclusion.

In summing up his opinion on the last conclusion one of the most eminent astronomers of the day has figured that a mountain range consisting of 176 cubic miles could fall into the sun and not furnish fuel enough to keep up the present rate of heat for a single second, and that a mass equal to our earth would only furnish heat for 98 years. If these conclusions are correct, we may well ask, Of what wonderful, indestructible substance is our great light-giver composed?—Exchange.
